THE PUBLISHER'S NOTICE.

The publication of the present number of the "Annual State Register" has been delayed, in order that complete returns from every town in the State might be received, and inserted. Some of our correspondents have neglected giving us the necessary information, and others were more dilatory than was to have been expected. In anticipation of the publication for 1830, the publisher would respectfully suggest to those who have been in the habit of furnishing matter for this work, that they forward him early in the ensuing fall the usual information—to secretaries of incorporated companies—of Academies, &c he would be extremely obliged for returns of the officers of their respective institutions (free of expense) A compliance with these requests will insure the correct insertion of their officers in the Register. The publisher renders his acknowledgements and thanks to his many correspondents, and to all who have assisted him in this work.

ENFIELD.—The industrious and peaceable society of Shakers is located in the north-east part of Enfield. There are 262 persons included in five families, who own and improve about 4000 acres of land, ten acres of which is cultivated as a garden. In addition to this the society own 1 Grist Mill, (recently erected) 1 Tannery, 1 Triphammer Shop, in which is a machine for drawing lead aqueducts, 1 Carding Machine, a machine for jointing staves for pails. carried by water, a Saw Mill and 3 Cider Mills, one of which is on the new principle of a cylander.

The society keep about 70 cows, 12 or 14 yoke of oxen, 12 horses and a large number of sheep and young cattle.—As their land is better adapted to grain than grazing, they do not keep so large a dairy as some other societies.

They have a Church in which they perform public worship, 70 feet by 50, two stories high.

KENT.—There are in this town three blast Furnaces, which turn out weekly between 60 and 70 tons of Pig Iron ; four blooming and refining forges, and one card Factory. Many excellent mill seats on the Ousatic, a never failing stream, remain unoccupied in Kent.

SOUTHEURY. This town has been pronounced the richest in minerals of any in the country. It has attracted the attention of Mineralogists who have taken specimens of petrefaction, rose quartz, &c. in large quantities to various parts of the world.
